

Ohio Political Campaign Nears Finale

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Candidates for statewide office, several keenly aware that their election contests are likely to be squeakers, campaigned down to the wire across Ohio today.

Election officials, meanwhile, were predicting an unusually heavy turnout for a non-presidential year and urged voters to study the candidates and issues before going to the polls Tuesday.

In addition to the statewide races, voters will be faced with decisions on candidates for Congress and the General Assembly, statewide constitutional issues and a variety of local questions.

Republican gubernatorial candidate James Rhodes issued a call Sunday for "Republicans, Democrats, independents and everybody who is entitled to vote to go to the polls and make their sentiments known."

"Never was it more important for the future of the great State of Ohio that her voters turn out and vote their convictions in this governor's race," the former chief executive told a gathering in Canton.

Rhodes summarized his stands on what he said were the issues.

"I will not raise taxes. I will see that the income tax goes to the schools. I will remove pressure from property taxes and I will resume an unremitting effort to get more and better jobs," he said.

"The question simply is one of whether you want more taxing and spending, and more inflationary mismanagement, or sound money management and a hold-the-line attitude in the Statehouse."

Incumbent Democratic Gov. John Gilligan said in Sandusky the gubernatorial campaign offers voters "a choice between the old way of doing business and a new era of honest politics."

Gilligan said Rhodes represents the "politics of broken promises. It is the politics of profits over people and it is the politics of the slush bucket."

The governor again criticized Rhodes for refusing to disclose his personal finances or "the full extent of his campaign contributions." He noted he has released his income tax records back to 1967 and his campaign committee has reported all money spent on his re-election effort.

"The people of Ohio don't have to tolerate the kind of politics Jim Rhodes represents and I don't think they will tolerate it," Gilligan added.

Gilligan's campaign schedule for today called for a swing through Dayton, Middletown, Hamilton and Cincinnati.

Democratic U. S. Senate nominee John Glenn, who appears to be the candidate with the least to worry about since polls give him an enormous lead over Republican Ralph Perk, planned to spend the day today campaigning in the Columbus area.

The former astronaut was to speak at Otterbein College in the morning, shake hands on a downtown Columbus street corner in the afternoon and attend a political rally in the evening.

The Columbus Dispatch reported Sunday its voting machine poll taken between Sept. 3 and Oct. 30 showed the gubernatorial race and four other statewide contests too close to call.

The other races are those between Republican Lt. Gov. John Brown and state Rep. Richard Celeste, GOP Secretary of State Ted W. Brown and State Sen. Tony Hall, Republican Supreme Court Justice Thomas M. Herbert and Clifford F. Brown and Democratic Supreme Court Justice

Frank D. Celebrezze and Sehdon A. Taft.

In the gubernatorial race, the weighted projections showed Rhodes with 47 per cent of the vote and Gilligan with 46.3 per cent, with the remaining 6.7 per cent favoring independent Nancy Brown Lazar.

The poll showed Democratic Atty. Gen. William Brown leading Republican George C. Smith 66.8 to 33.2, Democrat Thomas E. Ferguson ahead of Republican Roger W. Tracy Jr. 57.7 to 42.3 for state auditor, Democratic State Treasurer Gertrude W. Donahey in front of Republican Richard Harris 63.3 to 36.7 and Glenn holding a lopsided 64.7 to 24.2 advantage over Perk.

Hall said Sunday that Ted Brown really wants to retire and is seeking re-election "only because his party asked him to do so."

Calling Brown the "reluctant candidate," Hall said in a statement:

"He doesn't want the job. I do, and I have worked hard to tell everyone all over Ohio why I want the job and what I feel needs to be done to make our elections system better. The people of Ohio should give Ted Brown his wish and retire him on Tuesday."

Tracy released his 1973 federal income tax return showing a gross income of $16,273 and a total of $2,740 paid in federal, state and city income taxes.

Tracy said all of the income was from his law practice and reported that neither he nor his wife have any income or interest in stocks, bonds or real estate.

He took the opportunity to criticize Ferguson for his reported ownership of stocks in a number of banks, saying a potential conflict of interest situation existed since the auditor sits on the state Board of Deposits.

Demo Landslide Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Democratic landslide appeared imminent today on the eve of the first election to feel the full brunt of Watergate and a staggering economy.

The final pre-election survey by The Associated Press shows Democrats have a shot at two-thirds control of both houses of Congress and a record number of governorships.

Confident Democratic leaders predicted Sunday their party would carry a virtual sweep of Tuesday's elections, while Republicans talked about holding down their losses.

The balloting for 35 governorships, 34 Senate seats and all 435 House posts will be the first since Richard M. Nixon resigned as president and was pardoned by his chosen successor, Gerald R. Ford.

The election also comes amid mounting inflation and unemployment and national debate over what to do about both. Ford has campaigned for GOP candidates saying he needs a Congress he can work with to cure the economy, while Democrats have called for the congressional strength to put through their own solutions.

Ironically, the anticipated Democratic romp comes just two years after Nixon had won for the Republicans one of history's two biggest presidential landslides. But it was reminiscent of 1966 when Republicans turned the same trick after their presidential disaster in the Barry Goldwater campaign of 1964.

Although Republicans contended that their embattled candidates were closing gaps across the country, the latest available information showed Democrats still ahead in most of the key races.

The AP survey, based on reports from bureaus in all 50 states, late polls and interviews with political strategists for the major parties and candidates gives this picture:

Senate — The Democrats likely to gain from 5 to 7 of the 14 GOP seats at stake and with a good chance to hold all 20 of their own. This could mean 63 to 65 Democrats in the new Senate, compared to the 58-42 margin they already hold.

House — The Democratic gain could be as high as 50 seats and probably no less than 30 if present trends hold. They now hold a 248-187 edge and could approach the massive 295-140 majority they achieved in Lyndon B. Johnson's 1964 landslide.

Governors — The Democrats hold the record for most governorships in the hands of one party — 39 in 1939. Already holding 32 of the 50 statehouses, they now appear likely to gain from 7 to as many as 10.

The party out of the White House normally gains in off-year elections — an average 4 senators and 26 House members in the last five.

"Our mission is to keep it under the average losses," Rep. Robert Michel, R-Ill., chairman of the House Republican Campaign Committee, said on ABC's "Issues and Answers" show Sunday.

"Frankly, I would like to keep it in the range of 20 to 25" House seats, Michel said, the number of GOP congressmen he concedes are in deep trouble.

Sen. Bill Brock, R-Tenn., chairman of the Republican Campaign Committee in the Senate, said losing 4 or 5 Senate seats would be normal in the off-year following a presidential landslide like Nixon's but predicted "we'll do better than that."

But that was as close as any Republican leaders — including President Ford — would come to putting numbers on their expected fate Tuesday. When asked for his prediction, Ford brushed aside the question with "not on Sunday."

On another television panel show, GOP party chairman Mary Louise Smith also ducked the "numbers game" but said she saw a "turn-around" in the Watergate backlash that has been hampering Republican campaigns.

However, Democratic chairman Robert Strauss, appearing with Mrs. Smith on "Meet the Press," predicted a gain of 4 to 6 Senate seats, 27 to 32 in the House and statehouse victories to place 85 to 90 per cent of the population under Democratic governors.

The AP survey shows at least four Republican senators in the greatest danger of defeat — in Colorado, Kentucky, Oklahoma and North Dakota.

A fifth, Robert Dole of Kansas, has overcome a deficit in the polls against Democrat William Roy and the race is now rated a toss-up.

A sixth Senate race apparently has turned around but still is too close to call with Democrat Wayne Owens ahead of the GOP's Jake Garn in Utah by a narrow margin in three recent polls. They are seeking the seat of retiring Republican Sen. Wallace F. Bennett.

Democrat Richard Stone also leads Republican Jack Eckerd for the Senate seat vacated in Florida by the retirement of Republican Edward J. Gurney.

In New York Republican Sen. Jacob K. Javits is ahead in the polls but still threatened by former Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark. In Vermont, Democrat

Patrick Leahy appears within reach of Republican Richard Mallary.

On the House side, Republicans are bracing for losses of four or more seats in California and New York. Democrats also have a chance for multi-seat pickups in New Jersey, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Connecticut, Iowa and Virginia.

Republican chances of knocking off Democratic House members are in South Carolina, Louisiana and Utah as well as in Michigan, Ohio and Pennsylvania where Democrats captured traditionally GOP seats in special elections earlier this year.

The Democrats are well ahead and considered sure to capture the two biggest governorships, with Democrat Edmund G. "Jerry" Brown Jr., expected to beat Houston Flournoy in California for the job being vacated by Ronald Reagan, and Democrat Hugh L. Carey a heavy favorite over incumbent Republican New York Gov. Malcolm Wilson.

Republican-held governorships also are threatened in Massachusetts, Connecticut, Arizona, Oregon, Tennessee, Colorado and Wyoming. The hottest race is in Michigan where Democrat Sander Levin has knotted Republican Gov. William G. Milliken in a race too close for the polls to predict.

Secret Hunt Memo Comes To Surface In Cover-Up Trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prosecutors in the Watergate coverup trial said today they will recall Watergate burglar E. Howard Hunt to the witness stand because they have discovered that a memo he wrote five months after the Watergate break-in still exists.

The revelation prompted one defense attorney to move for an immediate mistrial. Another declared, "I have now a coverup within a cover-up."

Asst. Special Prosecutor James F. Neal said existence of the memo, dated Nov. 14, 1972, was revealed to him over the weekend by William O. Bittman, who was once Hunt's lawyer.

Bittman was named an unindicted co-conspirator in the Watergate cover-up by the same grand jury that indicted the five defendants in the cover-up trial.

Hunt had testified that he and his wife had written a memo detailing the background of the Watergate break-in, including the involvement of White House officials, at a time when only seven lower-level men had been indicted and were to stand trial for the crime.

Hunt quoted Bittman as saying he read the memo to defendant Kenneth W. Parkinson, an allegation denied by both Bittman and Parkinson.

Neal said that, until this weekend, Bittman also had denied in grand jury testimony and meetings with the prosecutors knowing that Hunt's memo ever existed.

Parkinson's lawyer, Jacob Stein, said he is now faced with challenging the credibility of Bittman and Hunt, both of whom have now admitted lying to the grand jury.

Stein asked for a separate trial for his client, describing Bittman's role as a "cover-up with a cover-up."

John J. Wilson, defense attorney for former White House chief of staff H. R. Haldeman, asked for a mistrial. His request was rejected by U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica.

Before the decision to recall Hunt, the prosecutors had indicated they were nearly finished with the testimony of major witnesses and would soon play recorded evidence they say is among the most damning to be put before the jury.

Watergate prosecutors say they plan to play more than 20 presidential tapes, on which are heard only the voices of Richard M. Nixon and one or more of three of the defendants.

However, some legal preliminaries must be cleared up. The first of the tapes may be heard by the end of the week.

The disclosure that Hunt's memo still exists, and the resulting legal arguments, delayed Jeb Stuart Magruder's scheduled last day of cross-examination by the defense. Magruder, deputy director of Nixon's 1972 re-election campaign, has withstood most attempts so far by defense lawyers to chip away at his testimony.

Magruder's story of the cover-up, in which he admittedly was a central figure, deeply enmeshes defendants H.R. Haldeman, John N. Mitchell, Robert C. Mardian and Kenneth W. Parkinson.

The attorneys for former White House domestic affairs chief John D. Ehrlichman asked no questions of the articulate and forceful Magruder, who frequently stole the courtroom spotlight away from defense lawyers. Magruder is serving a 10-month to four-year prison term for his own part in the cover-up.

Magruder was to be followed by his former administrative assistant at the re-election committee, Robert Reisner. He is the only witness so far who has not been indicted or served a jail term for a part in either the original Watergate burglary or the cover-up.

Reisner testified before the Senate Watergate Committee that Magruder ordered him to deliver to Mitchell summaries of wiretap information from taps made on phones at the Democratic National Committee. He also said Haldeman received copies of everything sent to Mitchell.

The day after the original burglars were arrested June 17, 1972, Reisner testified that Magruder told him, "There are sensitive things in the office ... take them out and keep them over the weekend."

Reisner said the sensitive papers in a blue folder were marked Gemstone. Gemstone was the code name for the illegal wiretap summaries.

The 28-year-old Reisner, who went from the committee to a $23,000 job with the Office of Management and Budget in the White House, never played a knowing role in the cover-up, according to testimony before the Senate committee.

Middle East Peace Pushed By Kissinger

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said today Israel and the Arab states must "make an effort to bring their positions closer to each other."

Kissinger, who begins another Middle East peacekeeping swing Tuesday, told newsmen the purpose of the trip is "to see whether useful negotiations can be conducted and in what manner."

With Yugoslav President Tito at his side, Kissinger said the United States "will do its utmost to move matters in the Middle East to a just and lasting peace."

Kissinger conferred with Tito for 1½ hours in the Yugoslav leader's White Palace, an imposing mansion that once belonged to Prince Paul, pretender to the throne.

They made brief statements to newsmen afterwards and took no questions.

Tito, a steadfast supporter of the Arabs in their push for Israel to relinquish territory, said both he and Kissinger expressed concern "because of the stagnation that is there. Much depends on the United States which so far has had a main influence."

Kissinger said, "The United States would like to do its best to prevent a stalemate from developing. This requires that all the parties on both sides understand the special necessities of the other and make an effort to bring their position closer to each other. It is for this purpose that I am going to the Middle East."

Flood Insurance Made Available

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Flood Insurers Association has approved two Ohio cities and one village for low-cost flood insurance.

The NFIA approved the insurance for the cities of Bellevue and Fairchild and the village of Manchester.

Damage from flooding is not covered in standard property insurance policies.

The flood insurance is subsidized by the federal government in communities which have taken precautions to minimize possible flood damage.

AWARD WINNER—Pickaway County extension agent George Hamrick (right) was honored in Tucson, Ariz., Oct. 24 for his efforts in career guidance. He was one of ten winners from throughout the nation recognized by the National Association of County Agricultural Agents at its annual meeting. Sperry New Holland provided plaques to state winners and an expense-paid trip to the meeting. Michael A. Balas (left), publications supervisor for Sperry New Holland, presented the plaques. Hamrick reached 2,700 high school students in four schools with a special program secured through Ohio State University.

Crackdown On 'Fat Clinics' Urged By Medical Leaders

CHICAGO (AP) — Two medical authorities today urged a crackdown on so-called "fat clinics" which use injections of a human hormone to help patients lose weight.

The hormone, derived from the urine of pregnant women, is called human chorionic gonadotropin.

An editorial in today's issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association says the weight-loss program of these advertised clinics may be hazardous to health and questions the value of the hormones.

It was written by Dr. John C. Ballin, director of the AMA's department of drugs, and Dr. Philip L. White, director of the department of foods and nutrition.

They noted that the attorney general of Michigan has ruled that the fat clinics are "in violation of Michigan's medical practice act, both as to participating licensed physicians and other persons who participate."

"We hope that other states will interpret their medical practice acts similarly," Ballin and White said.

A.T.W. Simeons, a British doctor practicing in Rome, first used human chorionic gonadotropin along with a semistarvation diet in the treatment of obesity more than 20 years ago.

The fat clinics using the Simeons hormone injections and diet "have proliferated throughout the United States and many of these are franchise operations," the editorial notes.

Fat people on this regimen receive a total of 40 injections, ostensibly under medical supervision, and are placed on 500-calorie diets. A course of treatment lasting 42 to 60 days may cost up to $700.

The diet is inadequate and therefore poses a health hazard because it results in protein loss from body tissues, the editorial warned.

There is no valid scientific evidence to demonstrate that human chorionic gonadotropin has any effect on weight loss, it said.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market declined broadly today, amid concern over the prospect of a nationwide coal strike.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 10.71 at 654.57, and losers led gainers by about 5 to 2 on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts traced the selling to the breakdown of contract talks between the coal industry and the United Mine Workers union Sunday evening. Most of the declines came in the first half-hour of the session, after which the market leveled off and quieted down.

Whirlpool was the most-active NYSE issue, down 1 at 14 1/4.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index lost 48 to 69.30.

Among coal stocks, Pittston was down 1 1/2 at 33 3/4, North American Coal slid 1 1/2 to 24 1/2, and Kennecott Copper, parent company of Peabody Coal, lost 7/8 to 31 1/2.

Steel issues also were depressed by the coal uncertainty, with U.S. Steel down 1 1/2 at 39 3/4; Republic Steel, off 1 1/2 at 24 3/4; and Bethlehem, down 7/8 at 26 3/4.

Gold's bucked the market trend with some moderate gains.

The Big Board's composite index of all its listed common stocks dropped .56 to 38.38.

Sheriff Arrests House Burglar

RECOVERED LOOT—Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff, left and Detective Don Thompson, right, look over televisions, stereo components, sewing machine, gun, antiques, banks, cameras and other numerous items recovered as a result of the arrest of James C. Jones, 52, Columbus. Most of the merchandise was taken from the David Dill residence, Oct. 30.

Pickaway County Sheriff's Authorities Saturday recovered $3,400 worth of merchandise, stolen from the David Dill residence, Oct. 20. Sheriff Dwight Radcliff and Detective Don Thompson arrested James C. Jones, 52, Columbus, for grand theft and aggravated burglary. Jones' arrest clears four burglaries in Pickaway County. It has possibly resulted in the clearing of burglaries in Fairfield, Fayette, Franklin and Montgomery counties, according to Sheriff Radcliff.

The initial investigation began when Jones apparently went to a Walnut Township residence wishing to paint the house. The alert resident took the license number and contacted the Sheriff's Department of the incident.

Continuous investigation found that Jones resided in Columbus. Radcliff and Thompson, along with Columbus authorities, went to Jones' residence, who was moving at the time.

After he was taken into custody, Jones told Radcliff where the Dill merchandise was located admitting to the theft. Radcliff obtained a search warrant and went to a 'fence' who was concealing the stolen goods.

Franklin County Authorities arrested Stephen H. Eichhorn, 33, for two counts of receiving and concealing stolen property and his wife, Maria Eichhorn, 32, with one count of concealing stolen property.

Radcliff noted that Jones was a lone operator. He entered most homes quite unnoticed. He is responsible for 50 or more burglaries in a two-month period, notes Radcliff.

The Sheriff states that his office has cracked one of the biggest house burglary suspects working in Central Ohio. Jones has a seven-page record.

Radcliff noted that apprehensions such as this result in fine cooperation of the public.

The investigation is continuing.

Snow, Rain Hit Much Of Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Snow continued to fall on parts of the Rockies today and flash floods were feared in three mid-nation states.

Travelers were advised of hazardous conditions in the Colorado mountains, northeast New Mexico and the Texas Panhandle. But the threat of more heavy snow in the Colorado and Kansas decreased, after leaving Goodland, Kan., under four inches of snow and Denver with three.

Flash flood watches stayed in effect in central and eastern Oklahoma and northwest Arkansas. A flash flood warning was issued in southwest Missouri.

Thunderstorms continued from central Texas through the middle Mississippi Valley and into western New England. Fort Smith, Ark., and Springfield, Mo., each had more than an inch of rain in the last six hours of Sunday.

Skies were clear over much of the southeast, the upper plains and west of the Rockies.

Temperatures ranged from 22 at Cheyenne, Wyo., to 76 at Naval Air Station at Corpus Christi, Tex.

Coal Talks Broken Off; Deadline Near

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal mediators are working to bring about a resumption of contract negotiations aimed at averting a nationwide coal strike after the United Mine Workers broke off talks in a dispute over money matters.

Despite the impasse, UMW President Arnold Miller said there still was a slim hope of preventing a walkout when the current contract expires Nov. 12.

"The onus is on the operators," he said. "The next 24 to 48 hours are rather critical," Miller added.

Chief federal mediator W.J. Usery Jr. said both sides were willing to resume discussion and he was hopeful for a meeting today. However, he acknowledged that no time had been set for a new session.

Usery stepped into the talks Sunday night after Miller led his bargaining team out of the negotiations, saying there was no point in continuing until the coal producers responded to the union's latest economic proposals.

A spokesman for the Bituminous Coal Operators Association said the mine owners had wanted to first resolve the remaining noneconomic issues.

"We made a great deal of progress and in a short time — in a day or so — we could reach an agreement," said Guy Farmer, the spokesman and chief industry negotiator.

In an apparent move to increase pressure for a settlement, the UMW's 38-member bargaining council approved Miller's recommendation to return to the coal fields rather than wait in Washington in hopes that the talks would resume and result in a tentative agreement. Time is already running short and this means at least an extra day before they can return here.

The council must first approve any agreement before it can be submitted to the union's 120,000 members in 25 states under a complicated ratification process which could take up to 10 days. However, Miller said it may be possible to shorten the time provided a settlement is reached early this week.

Kennedy Raps Accident Articles

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says some of the articles published in The Boston Globe last week about his 1969 Chappaquiddick Island auto accident contained charges which are "ugly, untrue and grossly unfair."

The Globe published a series of five articles, which included a tape-recorded interview with the Massachusetts Democrat, concerning the accident that took the life of Mary Jo Kopechne.

In a letter published Sunday in the Globe, Kennedy also criticized the allegation that he had intended to take Miss Kopechne for a walk on the beach, not to her motel as he had contended.

"It is regrettable in the atmosphere of doubt and suspicion which enshrouds us as a people that the truth cannot compete with the unnamed sources, the groundless suggestions and the speculation which is nurtured by articles of sensationalism," he wrote.

Globe editor Thomas Winship said the newspaper did not rely on just a single source in a twomonth investigation of the Chappaquiddick incident. He said the team of writers which put the story together "carefully considered the integrity and knowledgeability of its sources before publishing any information provided by them."

Big Drum Declares Quarterly Dividend

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Directors of Big Drum Inc., food product and equipment makers, have declared a regular quarterly dividend of 7.5 cents per share on common stock payable Nov. 29 to shareholders of record as of Nov. 15.

The directors said sales for the first nine months of 1974 were $1,321,684, an 8 per cent decrease from nine month sales of $1,432,692 in 1973.

Steel Shipments To Be Near Record

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Steelmakers continue to predict this year's shipments will be close to last year's record despite a "definite trend" toward fewer orders—unless there is a coal strike, Industry Week reports.

The magazine said today U.S. producers shipped a record 75.8 million net tons in the first eight months of this year. Last year's shipments totaled 111.4 million tons, and the prediction is that this year's will be between 111 million and 111.5 million tons.

But the tonnage appliance makers had been taking to clean up order backlogs has declined, following the downturn in residential construction, the magazine reported.

It added, however, that steel producers say the slippage will have little effect because the tonnage it frees can be diverted into other markets.

And all other markets, including automotive, remain strong, the magazine reported. It said steel mills are expected to operate at capacity "at least through the first quarter of next year."

Some of the market strength is attributed to manufacturers' concern that there will be a coal strike which would affect steel production drastically, Industry week said.

Should demand decline more generally, mills still will be as busy as they can be because they have deferred maintenance for some time and will have to take some furnaces out of production for repairs. "The result is that for a while, some steel companies would be losing capacity faster than they would be losing markets," the magazine said.

Steelmakers, noting domestic price improvement, are predicting steel imports will total 14 million net tons or maybe 14.5 million, the latter one million more than had been predicted earlier.

A Page Of Opinion

For Your Own Sake

It is estimated that more than 25 per cent of eligible voters will not go to the polls Tuesday.

Such apathy is difficult to understand. The issues on the national level are basic and vital, though perhaps somewhat obscured by campaign utterances. But if for no other reason, Americans should be interested in determining who will spend their money.

The average tax take per family in the United States has passed $2,000 a year. Most persons would think a long time before spending such a sum, but by failing to vote they turn the money over to those they had no voice in choosing.

Many a citizen excuses his failure to cast a ballot by saying that his single vote doesn't count for anything. But figures disprove that contention. Historians say no president of the United States has ever been elected by a true majority of eligible voters.

Many a representative and senator has been elected by an infinitesimal majority.

Individual voters no doubt have compelling reasons for staying away from the polls on election day, but the vast majority of those who fail to vote do so through indifference, and that's a national disgrace.

The right to vote is too hard-won and too rarely held on this planet for it to be taken so lightly by Americans. Voting is an obligation of citizenship, but it is more than that—it is essential to every voter's self-interest.

Those who do not make it to the polls Tuesday will have no one but themselves to blame if what happens in the years ahead does not suit them.

There's Booze Out There

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — Since the dawn of the space age there have been all kinds of reports about what Earthlings might prospect for Way Out There.

The moon turned out to be a dud, so far as commercial exploitation is concerned. All it seems to have is rocks, and we've got enough rocks to last us until kingdom come. We could sell the moon some, for that matter.

But heady dreams and apparently some measured calculations still insist that one of these years we'll start sending out cargo rockets that will scoop up mineral goodies beyond the dreams of avarice, and return them safely to, let's say, U.S. Steel, Anaconda Copper, Fort Knox and Tiffany's.

There is one theory that many millions of years ago there was another planet orbiting the sun, a planet that blew itself into small pieces — all valuable and all still intact in orbit. Just a question of getting a big net up there, fishing the stuff out of orbit, and bringing it back.

I believed this story wholeheartedly, when a Honeywell spokesman told it to me one night at Cape Kennedy; believed it, that is, until he suddenly went sound asleep in the middle of his story, before he got to the part where all those loose sapphires, emeralds and rubies were about to be harvested.

Now, a new What's-Out-There communicate that bears the imprimatur of the scientists working at the renowned National Radio Astronomy Observatory (NRAO), Kitt Peak, Ariz.

Their antenna has picked up radio signals which give every indication, they say, that in deep, deep space there are gigantic "oceans" of ethyl alcohol. The antenna isn't sensitive enough to tell us the proof of the distant booze, but it must be more than 100 — considering the fact that the burp reached us from many millions of miles away.

There's no distillery out there, NRAO says. The stuff just seems to have grown, like Topsy. Or Topsy, maybe. For centuries Earthlings have thought of alcohol as the squeezings from organic matter: wheat, corn, barley, malt, potatoes and all kinds of fruit. But the newly discovered hooch seems to have formed spontaneously, just as stars and planets form from swirling gases and debris.

If you decide to go out there, put the alky into barrels and parachute them back for home consumption or sale, better take a good chemist along. The radio emissions indicate that mixed in with the good stuff — you know, formic acid, formaldehyde, and cyanooacetylene — is a lacing of methyl alcohol. That's good for rubbing sore muscles, and anti-freeze for your radiator, but bad for the liver and life expectancy — as some of us remember from Prohibition days.

But the WCTU need have no immediate tremors that we'll soon be immersed in a sea of cosmic martinis. The stuff is located near the middle of the Milky Way. If one tried to swim across it he would be too old to take a victory snort when he reached the EDITOR'S NOTE: While The Herald encourages open comments from its readers, the opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the management. Letters to the editor must be signed and should be of 300 words or less.

Dear Editor:

I am a concerned parent in the Teays Valley Local School District. I hope that each and every parent will vote for the 5.44 mill bond issue Tuesday.

I know of many people in the district who do not have children in school but they realize how desperately we need a middle school and they are going to support the bond issue.

I have a second grader at Scioto and a pre-schooler who will start kindergarten in 1976. I know that other parents are aware of the situation and cannot understand that this important issue has failed many times before. It has cost us greatly by the delay.

Please support our kids and our school by voting "yes"—the elementary schools and a "face-lift" and the new middle school is a must if our children are to receive the education that is greatly needed.

Sincerely,
MRS. EDWIN E.
McCONAUGHEY
Orient

Dear Editor:

As concerned parents we feel obligated to encourage all Teays Valley School District voters to vote yes for the bond issue.

Passage of the school bond issue will mean a new middle school for the sixth, seventh and eighth grades. The high school will no longer be on split sessions and it will have the number of students that was originally intended.

If the bond issue is passed an addition will be built between the buildings at Ashville consisting of a cafeteria, kitchen and classrooms. Six and seven-year-olds won't have to go from one building to the next in rain, snow and zero weather for music, library, lunch and other classes. The gym will no longer be tied up for several hours while it substitutes for a lunchroom.

Passage of the school bond issue will mean improved sewage systems at other shore. It is 30 light years wide. There aren't enough ciphers on my typewriter to tell you how many miles that represents, except to remind you that light travels 186,282 miles per SECOND.

So, folks, back to that little old corner store, right? It has a special this week, a case of pre-Castro Cuban gin and a stomach pump — $3.99.

Letters To The Editor

Scioto and Walnut Schools. Since 1966 they have failed to meet state health standards.

Next fall every school system in Ohio will be required to have a kindergarten. This means that Ashville, Scioto and Walnut will have to provide room for these children. Passage of the bond issue will mean more classroom space.

All of the above mentioned are necessities, not luxuries. Our children are entitled to the best education we can give them. Surely we can do better than crowded schools and classrooms.

Sincerely,
MR. AND MRS.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — That rising jobless rate and the decline in prime interest rates are signals that the U.S. economy is undergoing a change that will bring both pleasure and pain over the next year.

Shortages are being replaced by abundance in some supplies as consumer interest tapers off. Inventories of unsold goods are beginning to pile up in warehouses, and that means pressure for lower prices.

Corporations are curtailing borrowing plans, fearful that an economic downturn will leave them overextended. Individuals, too, are trying to cut their borrowing and pay off their loans.

As the demand for money eases, interest rates are likely to continue falling.

With economic activity continuing to dry up, at least in comparison with the bloated economy of the past few years, the jobless rate is headed relentlessly, inevitably higher.

Here are some recent comments by economists of influential business and financial institutions regarding jobs, interest rates and the rate of inflation:

Consumer prices might increase by 8 to 9 per cent in 1975, the Bank of America states, compare with a rise for 1974 that it puts at 10.5 per cent.

In its "Focus on the Economy—1975" the bank didn't state a specific jobless figure but referred to moderately high unemployment during a year of little real economic growth.

The First National City Bank, second only to Bank of America among the nation's largest commercial banks, believes an easing of inflation will begin to show up in the Consumer Price Index by the first quarter of 1975.

Citibank economists say they still look for a drop in the inflation rate to 6 per cent in the early part of 1975. The Commerce Department put the inflation rate at 11.5 per cent in the three months that ended with September.

Lionel D. Edie & Co., the economic research and consulting arm of Merrill Lynch, the world's largest brokerage house, foresees a drop in the cost of borrowing money to as low as 9 per cent by December.

The prime lending rate now is around 11 per cent, having fallen from a peak of 12 per cent in September. Albert H. Cox, chief economist, believes a 7 per cent rate might be reached by spring or summer.

Britain Develops Retread For Roads

LONDON (AP) — A new accident-saving road service, with a tread pattern like an auto tire, has been developed in Britain.

The design should stop skidding and cut spray hazards on wet roads.

Scientists at Birmingham University spent seven years evolving the new surface, which cannot become polished or slippery.

They have used a harsh texture for the surface, which is made with two aggregates that wear at different rates, thus maintaining the tread pattern.

They claim that road and tire noise also will be reduced.

LAFF - A - DAY

"... Which brings me to another plank in my platform — financial aid to rehabilitate the railroads!"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My husband is on a vitamin E kick. Not only does he take large amounts of it every day, but he's become the neighborhood's leading advocate of vitamin E. He constantly tries to induce people to join him on his vitamin E binges.

Mrs. H.G., Pa.

Dear Mrs. G.:

Your husband is not alone in his enthusiasm. The vitamin E craze is now in its upswing.

Adherents make bizarre claims for vitamin E—claims that are not substantiated by scientific studies on nutrition.

These are some of the claims: Vitamin E is good for arthritis. Vitamin E will control psoriasis, eczema and other skin problems. Vitamin E will prevent male baldness. Vitamin E increases sexual virility. Vitamin E prevents wrinkling of the skin.

There was a time, in fact, when vitamin E was thought to be effective in the treatment of anginal pains due to coronary artery heart disease. A definitive study later showed that "there does not appear to be any clear evidence that vitamin E is effective in the treatment of any form of heart disease." These studies were reported at Duke University School of Medicine and the Mt. Sinai Hospital in New York City.

Vitamin E is necessary as a part of a well-balanced diet. It is found in large quantities in vegetable oils, whole grain foods and leafy vegetables.

For people who are known to have a deficient diet, supplementary vitamins are important, including vitamin E.

The Federal Drug Administration states that "Vitamin E has not been proven scientifically to have any of the miraculous effects being claimed for it."

Fortunately, excessive quantities of vitamin E do not seem to be harmful. On this basis, I suppose that the only valid criticism of your husband's vitamin E fling is in terms of wasted money.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH ... Long before a man retires he should learn the special art of being able to use his leisure time. Unless he does, leisure time becomes a burden rather than a gift.

Humor In Type

By JIM BISHOP

There is an illusion that the press is comprised of humorless bastards who never laugh. This is an outrageous peyorative. In our select group we have a number of reporters who, if you tell them about the mugging of a sweet old lady, will bust a garter laughing.

The daily tension of a city room, building toward the first deadline, lends itself to hysteria. There was a young publisher in Newark who used to get into a lace nightie and prance around, dropping "uppers" into goldfish bowls.

His old man had no sense of humor. "Stop it!" he would growl. "You don't even look good in that outfit." The fish used to drink and flip their scales.

Another publisher, of a morning paper, once told me he had stopped voting Republican. I always play straight man. "Why?" I said. "Because," he said archly, "President Warren Harding died for the afternoon papers."

There was a fat, red-faced night editor who was cold sober at 9 p.m., dead drunk at 9:10. Impossible? At 9:01 p.m., when the One-Star edition was locked up on the composing room floor, he went out onto the fire escape and downed a pint of whiskey at one gulp. His head hit the desk blotter like a bowling ball.

Jimmy Cannon met a bearded man in toga and sandals at the elevator. "I want to see the city editor," I said. The stranger said, "Yeah?" Cannon said, "Who shall I say is calling?" "Jesus Christ," the man said. Jim stuck his hand out. "Glad to meet you," he said solemnly. "I've heard a lot about you."

The murderer of Stanford White, noted architect, was a rich fuzzy-headed named Harry K. Thaw. A jury agreed that he was completely out of his sweet little mind, so he was sent to an asylum at Central Islip.

Thaw escaped and hurried to Chicago. There he was found by police reporter Jack Lait, on a summer day. Lait got a good interview. His lead was: "Harry K. Thaw arrived in Chicago yesterday brown as a nut."

James Whitaker, a giggling reporter-pianist, was asked to check out a tip that heiress Doris Duke was about to marry a New York State Assemblyman named Lawrence Quinn. On the phone, Miss Duke said she wasn't married, wasn't engaged, and had never heard of Quinn.

Quinn answered the question by telling Whitaker he had a wife and three children. "No story," he told the city editor. The boss looked up. "Okay," he said, "write it." "Write what?" Jim said. "Doris Duke and Lawrence Quinn don't even know each other." "Write it," the city editor said. "Do I have to give lessons in basic journalism?"

Whittaker's lead was imperishable: "Doris Duke, tobacco heiress, is so beautiful, so affluent, so fabulously well-heeled that news yesterday that she is not engaged to Assemblyman Lawrence Quinn stunned Broadway."

A man killed his wife in a jealous rage and tried to surrender to the fish & game editor. "Why me?" the sportswriter said. The killer shrugged. "The only thrill I get out of life is reading about hunting and fishing in your column. I thought I'd like to give you the scoop."

"This," Jim Hurley said, "is the outdoor sports department." He pointed to the city desk. "The indoor sports are over there."

Tom Flanagan realized our newspaper was in big trouble with Loew's Theaters. We had lost their advertising. Loew's State was showing "The Canary Murder Case." At great expense, the theater imported 600 canaries. Flanagan, a good old-time photographer, decided to do a big favor for Loew's and get the advertising back.

He gave himself a little beer edge, then stepped into the lobby, filled a flash pan with a whole bottle of powder, aimed the camera, pulled the trigger and 600 canaries dropped dead in their cages. "Simultaneous heart attacks," Tom said. "Extraordinary."

We are not grim, humorless people. Some city rooms are nut houses. Would you believe Grantland Rice couldn't spell? That every time Ed Sullivan took me to dinner he ate nothing but mashed potatoes? That an editor admitted that in the most recent movie he had seen, Mary Pickford was wearing curls?

One reporter bought a race horse. It ran out of the money four times. The whole newspaper had bet the rent money on the nag. He whistled up from the street. We looked. The horse was tied to a hydrant. He cupped his hands. "Yours!" he yelled.

People like that can't be all bad ...

Jerry Lewis Cited

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Comedian Jerry Lewis was ticketed by police after he stopped to view a traffic accident and set off a three-car crash in which two persons were slightly injured.

The Nevada State Highway Patrol said Lewis told officers after the Saturday mishap he stopped after recognizing someone involved in the original crash. Patrolmen said a vehicle driven by a 23-year-old woman then rammed Lewis' car from behind, bounced off and hit a third auto.

Majorettes Vital Part Of TV Band

By ROBERTA LALIK
The Teays Valley High School marching band majorettes and banner carriers for the 1974-75 school year are Kathy Null, Janie Tigner, Glenna Ett, Gale Warner, and head majorette Kathy Woodruff. Banner carriers are Cindy Woodruff and Penny Shields.

Kathy Null who has been a majorette for three years, said "I am proud to be a majorette for the Teays Valley Marching Band."

When asked how she felt when she was on the football field she said, "I feel excited. I am thinking of what I have to do next in my routine. When

TV Senior Spotlight

JULIE PABST

By RON CATRON

Julie Pabst resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Pabst at Route 2, Canal Winchester.

She is taking academic courses at school and hopes to go to Capital University after graduation and major in nursing.

Julie maintains a full schedule through her participation in 4-H, Girl Scouts, marching band, and church activities.

As one of the delegates to Buckeye Girls' State last summer, Julie felt that it was a very educational experience. She said it taught everyone some basics of government and how to get along with other people.

Julie feels that during her years at Teays Valley, she has learned to become an independent thinker.

Her advice to underclassmen is to study a lot and quit smoking in the restrooms.

KATHY WOODRUFF

By SUZIE HELSEL

Kathy Woodruff is a featured senior this week. She resides at Route 2, Ashville, and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Woodruff. Kathy has three sisters and one brother.

This past summer Kathy worked at Marcy Store, attended majorette camp, and spent a week at OSU as an Ohio Club Congress delegate from Pickaway County.

Kathy attends the St. Paul Lutheran Church and is the Sunday School secretary. Being head majorette at Teays Valley takes up a lot of her time along with concert band, pep band, drama club, yearbook staff, 4-H club, junior leader volunteer at Berger Hospital, ensemble, and instructor of baton.

After graduation Kathy's plans are undecided. She claims, "TV has helped me deal with early hours and little sleep." Her advice to underclassmen is, "Even though the Teays Valley Band is really great, try to improve and make it the greatest ever."

you're going off the field you feel great if you did well." She said she likes Duane Corbett and thinks he has added a lot of spirit to the band. She also said the band has improved greatly in sound and quality.

Janie Tigner said she is very nervous and afraid she's going to mess up when she's on the field. When asked how she liked being a majorette she said, "It's fun. I like it."

Gale Warner also said she is very nervous when she is on the field. When asked if she liked being a majorette she said, "Yes, it's fun."

Glenna Ett said she enjoys being a majorette because "I enjoy what I'm doing."

When asked what she learned at Majorette Camp she said, "We learned new routines, learned to do a novelty routine, and met new friends." She said she believed the band has fewer mistakes this year.

The head majorette is Kathy Woodruff. When asked how she felt on the field she said, "I feel if the band's doing good I have to do equally well." Her comment on being a majorette in the band was, "I like it, and I am proud. It's exciting and even though I take a lot of criticism from people, it pays off."

The banner carriers are Penny Shields and Cindy Woodruff. Penny said she is nervous, but it isn't all that bad. She said at majorette camp they learned seven routines and fundamentals for fire batons. They had a lot of fun, and got a superior rating for all the days they were there.

Cindy Woodruff said she is, "nervous and excited and proud to be on the field." When asked how she liked being a banner carrier she said, "I enjoy it and like being a part of the band."

All girls who want to be a majorette try out in May. They have to make up their own routines and must know the fight song. Four majorettes, one head majorette, and two banner carriers are chosen. Kathy Null added, "Any girl who wants to try out should remember she's representing the whole school and not just herself."

TV Welcomes New Guidance Counselor

MISS GLENDA SCHRIEBER

By TAMI WELLS

Miss Glenda Schrieber is Teays Valley's new mod and cheerful guidance counselor. She received a bachelor of science degree at Iowa State University and master of arts degree at Ohio State University. Her majors were languages and guidance counseling.

Miss Schrieber is from Iowa and has an 18-year-old sister and a 23-year-old brother.

Her previous teaching experience was at Phillipsburg, Pa. where she taught French and English.

Some ideas the new guidance counselor would like to bring into the future are to get a group program, bring all information up to date, help students get part-time jobs, and establish a tutoring program.

Her reasoning for being a counselor was because she wanted to stay in education, but in a different area besides languages.

The atmosphere and the spirit at TVHS greatly impressed the new counselor. She also said the students seem to be happier. The most common problem at TV for her students seems

Mrs. Dague Is Home Ec Teacher

MRS. BETH DAGUE

By DEBBIE DAWES

Mrs. Beth Dague came to Teays Valley from Tipp City. She teaches home economics and says she enjoys teaching here.

Mrs. Dague was born in northeast Ohio and was an only child. She attended Western College for Women in Oxford. She majored in home economics education and received her bachelor of arts degree there.

She decided to teach home economics because she thoroughly enjoyed the subject. She said, "It is a vital part of everyone's life. The course is changing constantly so that there is never a dull moment."

She enjoys housing, clothing, and textiles units in home economics because they permit the students to be creative.

Mrs. Dague's first impression of TV was, "It is a very rural school to which I was not accustomed."

Judge Jails Parents

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP) — Parents of students who are repeatedly absent from school are being jailed by a juvenile judge who sees the action as a deterrent to truancy.

Campbell County Juvenile Judge James Poston said he sentenced two sets of parents to a day in the Campbell County Jail Wednesday.

He took the measure after eight school districts in the county requested a "get-tough" policy on truancy.

"I can't see throwing the kids into detention or knocking hell out of them," said the judge. "In some cases you just can't reach them. I'm going to see if we can get to those kids through their parents."

Jailed were a couple whose 14-year-old son had missed 122 days of school in the past two years and the mother of a youth who had a similar truancy record.

to be certain classes to which they cannot adjust.

The most interesting experiences she has had at TV have been all the talks she has had with the students.

37 Students Take Tests On Aptitude

On Oct. 22, 37 students at Teays Valley High School joined over one million other students around the world in taking the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test-National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (PSAT-NMSQT) as an important step in making college plans.

The test is designed to measure verbal and mathematical abilities that are important in doing college work. The PSAT-NMSQT is co-sponsored by the College Board and the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

In addition to helping students find out more about themselves and their abilities, the PSAT-NMSQT can lead to other opportunities.

Students taking the test are entered in the competition for scholarships administered by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

They participate in the College Board's Student Search Service (SSS) so they can get information from colleges that may be looking for students like them.

When they get their scores, students can use the College Board's College Handbook to compare themselves with enrolled students at hundreds of colleges and universities and find out their chances of getting into and succeeding at the colleges of their choice.

School Burns At Newark

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — Classes were cancelled today at Newark High School following a fire that heavily damaged the school's sophomore classroom building.

A security man discovered the fire shortly after 1 a.m. in the home economics room of the building.

It took firemen about two hours to extinguish the blaze.

School officials said the fire destroyed the home economics room and an adjoining classroom. A second classroom and the biology laboratory were also reported badly damaged.

Heat, smoke and water damage were reported throughout the building, which has about a dozen classrooms. None of the other buildings at the campus-style school was damaged.

Many Local Issues On Ballots

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Candidates aside, Ohioans have a multiplicity of local decisions to make at the polls Tuesday—some of them close to the pocketbook.

About two dozen communities, including Cleveland—the state's largest—are asking voters to approve an increase in their city income tax.

In Cleveland and several others, the hike would be from 1 to 1½ per cent.

Others seeking one-half per cent increases include Willoughby, Newark, the village of Mogadore and Streetsboro (Portage County). New Carlisle voters are asked to approve a 1 per cent levy, while those in Napoleon have before them a one-fourth of 1 per cent tax for recreational purposes.

Two Ohio communities are going against the trend and proposing to repeal local income taxes. They are Sunbury (Delaware County) and Toronto (Jefferson County).

Otherwise, the miscellaneous ballot issues range from proposed street improvements in Lebanon and a one-half of 1 per cent piggyback sales tax in Darke County, to expansion of the territory of the Toledo Regional Transit Authority and the proposed creation of a charter commission in Summit County.

Included in the wide range of about 200 issues are nearly 100 proposed amendments to city government charters.

At least half of those are spread out among the conglomeration of 68 municipal government units in Cuyahoga County.

Some municipalities in other areas, including Portsmouth and Elyria, want to change their presidential year primary elections from May to June to coincide with a new state primary election statute.

Candidates and personalities have drawn nearly all the pre-election publicity, however. Ohio elects a governor, one U.S. senator, 23 representatives to the U.S. House, five statewide officers besides governor, three justices of the Ohio Supreme Court, 99 Ohio House members, 18 state senators and 10 members of the 23-member State Board of Education.

Besides the nearly 200 miscellaneous issues, a total of 206 new school district tax proposals are on local ballots, along with 31 requests for tax levy renewals, 58 bond issues for capital construction, and 41 levies for permanent capital improvements.

The city of Sidney in Shelby County is voting on the creation of a compensation commission for its officials, while East Palestine in Columbiana County and Orrville in Wayne County are considering the establishment of charter commissions.

Perrysburg would be included in the jurisdiction of the Toledo Regional Transit Authority under a proposal that also would impose a one mill property tax levy to pay for the services. The city of Toledo also will determine whether to expand production and storage facilities of its park water treatment plant.

At least two counties—Morgan and Noble—are deciding whether to combine their probate courts with their courts of common pleas.

Dayton voters—who approved a hike in their city income tax at a special election in September—will decide, among other things, whether their mayor should be nominated at a special election.

Elsewhere, Lorain voters will be asked to abolish their board of park commissioners; those in Millersburg, Holmes County, will be asked to okay an increase in water rates, and still others in overlapping jurisdictions will be asked to approve changes in school district boundaries.

There are about three dozen proposed changes in zoning ordinances in communities around the state, and about 30 annexation questions, most of them involving currently unincorporated areas.

Bond Sales Announced

Kenneth F. Fosnaugh, Pickaway County Volunteer Savings Bonds chairman, reported September sales of Savings Bonds in the County were $32,154. The County achieved 68.7 per cent of its annual sales goal September 30.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Shouldn't Fleece Sleeping Sheep

DEAR ABBY: When I was a little girl, I remember seeing my mother tiptoe into the bedroom where my father was sleeping and she'd take some money out of his pants pocket.

Now that I'm married, I do the same thing to my husband. Sometimes he misses what I took and sometimes he doesn't.

My question: Is it wrong to take money this way? I get an allowance to run the house, but sometimes it's not enough.

PICKPOCKET

DEAR PICK: If you need more money than your husband gives you, ask him for it when he's awake. To fleece him when he's asleep should make you feel sheepish.

DEAR ABBY: I will never be able to make amends to my wife for what I did to her, but if you choose my letter for your column it might keep someone else from making the same mistake. I'm an average, 33-year-old man, married for six years. We have one child.

One night I went out alone and picked up a nice-looking girl in a bar. Believe me, she looked and acted as nice as any girl I had ever met. She was immaculate and ladylike. That girl gave me the gonorrhea. I, in turn, infected my wife with such a severe case that she had to have a complete hysterectomy. She is only 30 years old and now she'll never be able to have another child, and she wanted one so much.

The doctor had to tell her the truth and it nearly broke her heart because she had never looked at another man, and knew it had to be my fault.

She says she's forgiven me, but I don't think I can ever forgive myself.

Abby, please tell your readers not to take foolish chances like I did. I'm not a tramp, Abby. I went out on my wife only once, and God forgive me, it was the most foolish thing I've ever done.

HATING MYSELF

DEAR HATING: I'll print your letter as a reminder to women as well as men that verereal disease is still one of society's most serious problems. Be careful!

DEAR ABBY: I am a woman, 22, and married. I quit my job as a beautician because I don't like that kind of work.

My friends, neighbors, and relatives think that because I'm not working right now, I have lots of time on my hands, so they come over and ask me to do their hair for nothing.

I'm not pushy and I hate to hurt anyone's feelings, so I go ahead and do their hair. It's a lot easier than making up some kind of excuse. Besides, I don't want any trouble.

Now I've had it. Will you please give me a good excuse to use when relatives, neighbors and friends ask me to do their hair.

RETIRED

DEAR RETIRED: You don't need an "excuse" you have a legitimate reason. Use it. Say: "I quit being a beautician because I don't care for that kind of work."

Two Injured In One-Car Accident

Two persons were injured shortly after midnight today in a one-car accident on Route 23, just north of the Little Walnut Creek.

Sherry A. Hundley, 20, Pataskala, claimed injuries and was taken to Berger Hospital when she ran off the highway at 12:25 a.m. A passenger in her vehicle, Dave W. Adams, 19, of Reynoldsburg, received visible injuries in the accident.

According to the report made by investigating officer Sgt. R. P. Ehrhart of the State Highway Patrol, Ms. Hundley was northbound on Route 23 when she ran off the left side of the road.

The car struck a drainage ditch, rolled over and came to rest on its wheels. The officer cited inattention on the part of the driver as the apparent cause of the accident.

No citations were made and Adams was released after treatment for multiple abrasions and lacerations at the Berger Hospital emergency room. Ms. Hundley was not treated.

Richard Harris In Uphill Fight

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Richard H. Harris, the Republican candidate for state treasurer, is walking toward the finish line of his 1,000-mile tour of Ohio's perimeter, but he still appears to be running behind Democratic incumbent Gertrude W. Donahey.

Harris completed his 900th mile in Cleveland and is heading for Toledo on the final 100-mile leg of his walk.

He is "delighted with the response," but has been unable to shake an underdog label as a candidate who probably has the slimmest chance of victory of any Republican on the party's statewide ticket.

He is up against a well known, well-financed incumbent in a campaign that clearly lacks gut issues, and in an election year that looks promising for Democrats.

A Republican campaign official conceded, "The campaign is not shaping up around issues. She is apparently a very nice woman, but she is not as qualified as Harris. He is an administrator."

That is the major thrust of his campaign.

That same "very nice woman" had spent more than $66,600 as of Oct. 16 in her race against a political unknown. She is spending $48,000 of it on a statewide radio blitz that began last week and will continue up to the Nov. 5 election.

The 60-second spots focus on her record after the statehouse loan scandal, which was centered in the treasurer's office in 1970 under a Republican administration. Their tone, Mrs. Donahey's media coordinator said, is simply: "This is what we've done folks; we've cleaned the mess up and earned you money at the same time."

Harris has no prospects for radio or television advertising; the money just isn't there. Records in the secretary of state's office listing contributions over $25 show he has raised about $6,000. His balance on Oct. 16 was given at $169.55.

He hopes to place some newspaper ads shortly before the election to remind voters that he's the guy who hiked through their town.

The walking candidate decided to throw his hiking boots into the ring when he started hearing of complaints about delayed premium checks from the Bureau of Workmen's Compensation.

Harris worked for the bureau for 12 years before joining a Toledo law firm last year as a non-lawyer administrative assistant.

According to Harris, about $7 million, including workmen's compensation checks, had been left in mailbags unnoticed in Mrs. Donahey's vault for more than two months, costing the state $100,000 in interest.

The charge makes Mrs. Donahey bristle. It was considerably less than $7 million, and closer to two weeks than two months, she has said. The money was in sliding filing trays that inadvertently were left undated, she said.

Mrs. Donahey, widow of one-time Lt. Gov. John W. Donahey, was the first woman elected to statewide executive office in Ohio, and she is proud of her record in office.

She emphasizes the new computer techniques she has introduced and boasts of earning more than $200 million for Ohio from interest and investments, compared to $159 million in the eight years prior to 1971.

Harris does not dispute those figures, but mentions as factors increased state revenues from the income tax and lottery and soaring interest rates.

The Harris campaign staff, which has only one full-time employee, issued a press release recently as the candidate neared the end of his "odyssey."

In the southern part of the state, the release said, "he found the people so stirred by his walk that he was pressed to stay a few days longer than anticipated in order to visit groups and give interviews."

But he was caught by a snow storm in Cleveland, the release added, and "one walking day was spent shopping for thermal underwear, heavy socks and warm gloves."

Now if he could just heat up his campaign.

KSU Trial In Recess To Tuesday

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Prosecution and defense rest today in the trial of eight former Ohio National Guardsmen indicted in the 1970 Kent State University shootings.

The trial is in recess and resumes Tuesday.

Testimony in the second week of the trial is expected to return to the government's contention that guardsmen were not threatened when they opened fire on students protesting U.S. military involvement in Cambodia.

The May fourth shootings killed four students and wounded nine.

The prosecution has provided evidence that students pelted guardsmen with rocks before the gunfire broke out and even threw back some tear gas canisters guardsmen had fired into the crowd.

But defense cross-examination has brought out testimony that most students were more than 300 feet away when the troops started shooting.

Three photographers on campus that day told the court last week they saw no rush of students that could have precipitated the firing.

At the beginning of the week, the jury and seven of the eight defendants toured the campus, exploring the site of an Army Reserve Officers Training Corps building burned two days before the shootings, the hill from which guardsmen fired and the parking lot below where students fell.

The ex-guardsmen are charged with assaulting and intimidating the shooting victims and others by firing weapons in their direction and depriving them of their civil rights without due process of law.

On trial are James E. Pierce, 30, Amelia Island, Fla.; and seven Ohioans — James D. McGee, 28, and Lawrence A. Shafer, 28, Ravenna; Ralph W. Zoller, 27, Mantua; Barry W. Morris, 30, Kent; Leon H. Smith, 27, Beach City; Mathew J. McManus, 27, West Salem; and William E. Perkins, 28, Canton.

Temperatures this morning were cooler with readings in the mid 40s in the northwest and low to upper 50s elsewhere.

The showers occurring along the front are associated with another low pressure area in Northern Arkansas which is expected to move northeastward today and tonight continuing the showers.

Milk Prices, Feed Costs Both Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The farm price of milk was up last month, but so was the cost of feed for dairy cows. That meant a slight dip in the already depressed milk-feed ratio, according to Agriculture Department figures.

As of Oct. 15, the department's monthly report on farm prices showed last week, the milk-feed ratio was 1.17 pounds. That is the amount of dairy feed equivalent in value to one pound of milk sold by farmers.

The mid-October ratio was down slightly from 1.18 pounds in September and 1.10 set in August, the lowest in 27 years. A year earlier, on Oct. 15, 1973, the ratio was 1.57 pounds and on the same date in 1972—when dairy farmers were making money — it was 1.77 pounds.

President Ford says he will not order larger dairy import quotas before the situation is thoroughly reviewed with dairy industry people. That is encouraging, milk producer representatives say, but direct action to boost government price supports is needed quickly to help relieve the financial burdens.

The USDA price report said the overall dairy product index — meaning the average farmers received for all milk products — was up four per cent during the month ended Oct. 15 but still was two per cent below a year ago.

The milk-feed ratio figures illustrate what has happened the past year. As of Oct. 15, for example, the average cost of 100 pounds of dairy feed was $7 nationally, compared with $5.30 a year earlier.

Meantime, the average farm price of 100 pounds of milk also was down to $8.21 per hundredweight in mid-October from $8.32 a year earlier. That is a "blend" price average for all milk sold to plants.

If farmers had received a full parity price for milk last month, the Oct. 15 average would have been $10.90 per hundredweight, the USDA report showed. As it was, the midmonth level averaged only 71 per cent of the parity price.

A year earlier, when milk sold for more and feed costs were lower, the Oct. 15 farm price translated into 88 per cent of the parity price at that time. The parity price supposedly reflects a balance between prices farmers get for what they produce and their costs.

The high cost of grain — the principal component of dairy feed — shows a much higher relationship with the parity scale. For example, corn prices at the farm on Oct. 15 averaged a record $3.45 per bushel.

But the mid-October parity equivalent for corn was only $2.74 per bushel.

George Foreman Wants Rematch

PARIS (AP) — Boxer George Foreman, who lost his world heavyweight crown last week to Muhammad Ali, says he is ready to fight Ali again "for nothing."

"I think that in Kinshasa the best athlete was beaten," said Foreman, speaking on a television show about the title bout in Zaire.

"I am prepared to meet Ali again and for nothing," he said. "I'll have no rest until I meet him again. Then I'll retire."

Foreman and Ali each earned $5 million for the fight. Ali has said he has no immediate future plans, but he disclosed after the fight he was offered $10 million to box Foreman or ex-champion Joe Frazier.

Aristotle Onassis Enters Hospital

NEW YORK (AP) — Aristotle Onassis has entered New York Hospital for a "routine physical checkup," the hospital says.

The hospital's administrator said Sunday that Onassis, husband of the former Jacqueline Kennedy, was listed in satisfactory condition simply because it was hospital practice to list a condition for all patients.

He said the Greek financier entered the hospital under an assumed name, "Mr. Phillips," because he did not wish "to have any unnecessary publicity."

Four miles isn't very far to go, unless you're drilling a hole.

Four miles is just about how deep we're drilling into the earth now, in the Appalachian area, to find more natural gas. That's about three miles deeper than most wells in the area have ever gone. And the deeper the well, the more it costs—as much as $1 million a mile.

Deep-drilling is a high-risk, high-cost venture. But Columbia is doing it to seek more clean-burning natural gas that will help solve the energy crisis. And, when you consider the alternative of less energy, we think you'll agree that the price is not too high.

Columbia Gas is investing millions of dollars to develop many new sources of gas—in the Arctic, under the sea, overseas, from petroleum liquids, from coal — as well as exploring four miles deep right here in our backyard.

Bengals Blast Baltimore, 24-14

BALTIMORE (AP) — "Let me tell you about the blitz," said Coach Paul Brown of Cincinnati. "Teams that live by the blitz sometimes hit big with it, and sometimes get hit big by it."

On Sunday, it was Baltimore that unleashed the red-dog, and three times Bengals' quarterback Ken Anderson collared it for touchdowns.

In the second quarter, Anderson attacked the blitz with TD strikes of 77 yards to Isaac Curtis and 27 yards to Essex Johnson.

And with Cincinnati holding a slim lead late in the game, Anderson again read the Colts' defense to perfection and flipped a 45-yard scoring strike to Curtis to ice a 24-14 victory.

"We saw some weaknesses in the Baltimore defense and exploited them," Anderson summed up. "We wanted to run more but they shut us out on the ground. We had to pass."

The No. 3 passer in the National Football League coming into the game, Anderson had a field day against the Colts.

He hit on 17 of 21 throws for 297 yards and always seemed able to find receivers and keep drives going. The four-year veteran from Augustana College also wound up as his team's leading rusher with 62 yards on six carries.

"I'd rather pass," Anderson explained. "But if the hole opens up, I'll run it."

Cincinnati, now 5-3, jumped to a 17-0 halftime lead on Anderson's two TD passes and an 18-yard field goal by Horst Muhlmann. The Colts blocked two other Muhlmann field goal tries, from 23 and 40 yards.

Baltimore's offense, practically nonexistent in the first two quarters, suddenly sprang to life after halftime.

The Colts took the second half kickoff and drove 79 yards, with Lydell Mitchell scoring on a six-yard run.

The play proved costly for the Colts, however. Quarterback Bert Jones suffered a sprained right shoulder and left the game. Spokesman later said Jones may miss the team's game against Denver next Sunday.

Marty Domres, Jones' replacement at quarterback, later directed a 90-yard march capped by Mitchell's one-yard TD plunge to narrow the deficit to 17-14.

Agler Will Retire As Otterbein Coach

WESTERVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Robert "Moe" Agler is retiring as head football coach at Otterbein College at the end of the 1974 season, but will continue as athletic director.

Agler is the winningest coach in Otterbein grid history with a 74-62-5 record. He was named both football and basketball coach in 1955. When he became athletic director in 1958, he relinquished basketball duties.

Cowboys Down Cards, 17-14

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

The St. Louis Cardinals are no longer riding high in the National Football League after running into a Cowboy ambush.

Effren Herrera delivered the killing shot in the Dallas stronghold Sunday. "It's nice to win one like that after losing other games on field goals," Dallas Coach Tom Landry said after his straightshooting Cowboys handed the Cardinals their first defeat of the year, 17-14 on Herrera's 20-yard field goal with four seconds left.

Before Sunday, the Cardinals had won seven straight games for a big lead in the National Conference East Division. Now, their lead is down to two games over the Washington Redskins, and more significantly, they've proved that they are not such tough birds after all.

In another of Sunday's top games, the Buffalo Bills beat the New England Patriots in a 29-28 thriller to decide the leader in the American Conference East.

Elsewhere, the division leaders in action all won. The Pittsburgh Steelers, leaders in the AFC Central, hammered the Philadelphia Eagles 27-0; the Oakland Raiders, first in the AFC Western, beat the Denver Broncos 28-17, and the Minnesota Vikings, atop the NFC Central, walloped the Chicago Bears 17-0.

In the other games, the Miami Dolphins ripped the Atlanta Falcons 42-7, the Redskins tripped the Green Bay Packers 17-6, the Cincinnati Bengals turned back the Baltimore Colts 24-14, the Houston Oilers trimmed the New York Jets 27-2, the Detroit Lions nudged the New Orleans Saints 19-14, the San Diego Chargers nipped the Cleveland Browns 36-35 and the New York Giants surprised the Kansas City Chiefs 33-27.

Los Angeles, the NFC Western leader, plays San Francisco Monday night.

Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach drove the Cowboys 71 yards in the final five minutes of their game with St. Louis. The Cardinals aided the drive with three costly penalties.

Staubach connected on a 15-yard pass to Golden Richards with 30 seconds to play and St. Louis was flagged for roughing the passer to put Dallas on the Cardinal five. Staubach sneaked one yard and Dallas let the

MSU Aims At Big Ten Championship

By JOE MOOSHIL
AP Sports Writer

"Don't give me any of that Big Two and Little Eight business," said Michigan State Coach Denny Stolz. "We're going after the Big Ten championship."

Stolz and the Spartans of Michigan State will get their big chance Saturday when they take on top-ranked Ohio State at East Lansing.

Michigan State took over third place in the race with a 3-1-1 record after defeating Wisconsin 28-21 at Madison. Ohio State kept rolling with a 49-7 victory over Illinois and Michigan squeezed by Indiana 21-7. Purdue bombed Iowa 38-14 and Northwestern whipped Minnesota 21-13.

While Ohio State is at Michigan State Saturday, undefeated Michigan goes to Illinois, Indiana will be at Northwestern, Wisconsin at Iowa and Minnesota at Purdue.

Looking toward the Ohio State game, Stolz said, "We're gonna get ready for it. We're gonna be there. Then we'll see what our chances are."

Ohio State was too busy celebrating Saturday to look ahead to Michigan State. The victory over Illinois was the 200th in Woody Hayes' brilliant coaching career; Archie Griffin got his national record of 18 straight games with 100 or more yards rushing and the Buckeyes set a team total yards record of 644.

Griffin gained 144 yards in 20 carries and went over the 100-yard mark in style with a 22-yard touchdown run. He also flashed 16 yards for an earlier score.

Elyria Catholic Wins AA Cross Country Tilt

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Elyria Catholic again is the state Class AA high school cross country champion. The school easily won its second straight title with 60 points chalked up by Bill Stetson's fourth place divisional finish, followed by Jeff Brizes in 9th, Brad House in 10th, Bob Schmidt in 15th and Lee Korvan in 21st place. Findlay captured the Class AAA championship with 103 points and Plymouth took Class A honors with 87.

Mount Union Wins OC Cross Country

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — Led by Bob Lunn with a time of 26:35, Mount Union runners finished in the first four places to give the school a lopsided victory in the 40th Ohio Conference Cross Country Championships Saturday.

Mount Union had a low total of 16 points, compared to 100 for runnerup Otterbein. Muskingum was third in the five-mile competition with 119 points.

of 64,146 into delerium.

St. Louis quarterback Jim Hart completed touchdown passes of 19 yards to Jackie Smith and 10 yards to Mel Gray — the latter giving the Cardinals a 14-7 lead in the third period.

Bills 29, Patriots 28

Linebacker Dave Washington ran 72 yards with a pass interception for a touchdown, then blocked a field goal attempt with 50 seconds remaining to help Buffalo win a spine-tingling game from New England. The victory boosted the Bills into sole possession of first place in the AFC East with a 7-1 record. New England, 6-2, fell one game behind into a secondplace tie with Miami.

Washington picked off a pass by New England quarterback Jim Plunkett and sprinted down the sideline to put Buffalo in front midway through the third period.

However, the Patriots, who lost a 30-28 decision to the Bills in Buffalo two weeks ago, charged back as Mark Herron capped a 51-yard drive with a short touchdown run later in the period. John Smith kicked the conversion, putting New England in front 28-26. Led by quarterback Joe Ferguson, the Bills moved downfield to set up John Leybold's winning field goal from the 47-yard line with five seconds gone in the fourth period.

Steelers 27, Eagles 0

Pittsburgh's defense allowed only three drives beyond the 50-yard line and Mel Blount delivered the knockout blow with a 52-yard interception for a touchdown as the Steelers crushed Philadelphia.

Raiders 28, Broncos 17

Ken Stabler threw four touchdown passes, two each to Cliff Branch and Fred Biletnikoff, to lead Oakland past Denver. The Raiders sprinted to a 21-7 lead in the first half and held off the rallying Broncos after intermission.

Vikings 17, Bears 0

Fran Tarkenton threw two second-half touchdown passes, leading Minnesota to an easy victory over mistake-prone Chicago. The Vikings' victory snapped a two-game losing streak.

Dolphins 42, Falcons 7

Don Nottingham scored three touchdowns to lead Miami over Atlanta. Miami quarterback Bob Griese completed 10 of 15 passes for 152 yards and two touchdowns.

Redskins 17, Packers 6

Washington beat Green Bay behind Billy Kilmer's short passes and a rugged Redskins defense that closed down the Packers' running game.

Bengals 24, Colts 14

Ken Anderson passed for three touchdowns, the last one with 90 seconds remaining, to lead Cincinnati over Baltimore.

Oilers 27, Jets 22

Dan Pastorini threw a 51-yard pass to Ken Burrough to set up Willie Rodgers' winning touchdown run with 1:56 to play in Houston's victory over the New York's Jets.

Lions 19, Saints 14

Levi Johnson returned a squibbed field goal attempt 78 yards for a second-quarter touchdown and Detroit survived a New Orleans' rally to take a rain-soaked victory over the Saints.

Chargers 36, Browns 35

Ray Wersching kicked a 40-yard field goal with 55 seconds remaining as San Diego, led by the four-touchdown, 333-yard passing of Dan Fouts, beat Cleveland.

Giants 33, Chiefs 27

Craig Morton uncorked a 51-yard touchdown pass to Joe Dawkins with 4:13 left in the game to give the New York Giants a close victory over Kansas City. The Chiefs had the ball inside the Giants' one-yard line when the game ended after quarterback Len Dawson engineered a 77-yard march in eight plays.

Top College Teams Post Impressive Wins

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
AP Sports Writer

The time for college football comparisons is here.

Is Ohio State better than Oklahoma? Is Michigan better than Ohio State? Is Alabama better than all of them?

Texas, ranked 12th, is "a lot better" offensively than top-rated Ohio State, Coach Dave Smith of Southern Methodist said Saturday after his club bowed to the Longhorns 35-15. Five weeks earlier, SMU lost to Ohio State 28-9.

Alabama is "better than Florida," Mississippi State's Bob Tyler said after his 17th-ranked team absorbed a 35-0 licking at the hands of the fourth-ranked Crimson Tide. State's only other setback was a 29-13 loss to Florida, also five weeks ago. Saturday, No. 11 Florida ended fifth-ranked Auburn's unbeaten season 25-14.

"I don't see a heckuva lot of difference between their defenses; they're both fine," Colorado's Bill Mallory said in comparing ninth-ranked Nebraska and No. 2-rated Oklahoma. Nebraska throttled Colorado 35-15 Saturday while Oklahoma trampled the Buffs 49-14 two weeks ago.

Cincy, Miami Win Ohio Tilts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Cincinnati upset 19th-ranked Temple and Woody Hayes marked his 200th career collegiate victory in Ohio college football action over the weekend.

In the Mid-American Conference, Miami of Ohio assured itself of at least a share of the league championship, while in the Ohio Conference, Baldwin-Wallace clinched the Red Division title.

Cincinnati's upset came with only 10 seconds left in the game with Temple, which until Saturday enjoyed the nation's second longest collegiate winning streak.

Cincinnati led 19-13 going into the game's final minutes. But Temple marched 79 yards in the closing minutes and took a slim 20-19 lead with 2:24 left to play. Cincinnati then launched a desperation drive, and Dan Shepherd booted a 25-yard field goal to snatch the victory from Temple.

In Columbus, Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes claimed his 200th career collegiate victory and junior tailback Archie Griffin smashed a national rushing record as the Buckeyes demolished Illinois 49-7.

Griffin piled up 144 yards to make the game his 18th straight 100-plus regular season performance. The mark surpassed a record set in 1968-69 by Steve Owens of Oklahoma.

Miami clinched at least a share of the Mid-American Conference title with a 31-0 victory over Western Michigan. It was the 16th-ranked Redskins' fourth straight conference victory and stretched their unbeaten string to 20 games.

In Toledo, star quarterback Gene Swick passed through a thick fog for 148 yards to lead the Rockets to a 44-14 victory over Northern Illinois. Though both are MAC teams, the victory does not count in conference standings because Northern Illinois does not play enough MAC teams yet.

In other MAC games, Ohio University followed the running and passing of quarterback Rich Bevy to a 33-22 victory over Bowling Green. Kent State smashed Marshall 35-7 in a nonconference game.

Among major independents, Akron scored on a 92-yard aerial bomb in the closing minutes to defeat Indiana State 22-21, while Dayton was nipped 28-25 by Central State. In Cleveland, Willie Martinez threw for three touchdowns to lead Oberlin to a 25-18 victory over Case Western Reserve.

In the Ohio Conference, Baldwin-

Throwing comparisons — and another opponent — to the winds, Ohio State did nothing to diminish its No. 1 standing. Archie Griffin set an all-time record by rushing for more than 100 yards for the 18th consecutive regular-season game and the Buckeyes trounced Illinois 49-7, making Woody Hayes one of the few coaches to reach 200 victories.

Meanwhile, Oklahoma whipped Iowa State 28-10 — it was 28-0 until the final two minutes — and No. 3 Michigan struggled past Indiana 21-7.

Southern California, rated sixth, had to come from behind to tie California 15-15 but the rest of The Associated Press Top Ten all prevailed.

Seventh-ranked Notre Dame rallied for a pair of fourth-period touchdowns and shaded Navy 14-6. No. 8 Texas A&M tripped Arkansas 20-10 and 10th-ranked Penn State edged No. 15 Maryland 24-17.

Besides Florida and Texas, 16th-ranked Miami of Ohio was the only other member of the Second Ten to win. The Redskins clobbered Western Michigan 31-0.

But Rice toppled No. 13 Texas Tech 21-7, Texas-El Paso stunned No. 14 Arizona State 31-27, Washington bombed No. 18 UCLA 31-9 and Cincinnati nipped No. 19 Temple 22-20. San Diego State and Wisconsin, tied for 20th, both lost, the former to North Texas State 14-9 and the latter to Michigan State 28-21.

Ohio State's Griffin rushed for 144 yards and two touchdowns, and Cornelius Greene ran for 127 yards and one touchdown and passed for another 127 and two scores.

Oklahoma maintained its half-game lead in the Big Eight over Nebraska and Missouri — a 52-15 winner over Kansas State — as Elvis Peacock and Grant Burget ran for touchdowns and Steve Davis passed to Joe Washington and Tinker Owens for two more. The Sooners, though, were held to 198 rushing yards, by far their lowest of the year.

Michigan's Gordon Bell came off the bench and rushed for 159 yards and two second-period touchdowns as the Wolverines remained tied with Ohio State atop the Big Ten.

Five Alabama players — Robert Fraley, Calvin Culliver, Richard Todd, Randy Billingsley and Ray Sewell — scored on short runs against Mississippi State as the Crimson Tide opened a one-game bulge over Florida and Georgia in the Southeastern Conference race.

Florida chewed up Auburn's vaunted defense for 324 yards on the ground, with Jimmy DuBose smashing inside for 143 and Tony Green running wide for 78.

Southern Cal trailed California 12-0 before starting its comeback. The Trojans caught up in the third period when Pat Haden sneaked across from a yard out and then flipped a two-point conversion pass to Jim Obradovich.

Notre Dame trailed Navy 6-0 until the final period, when Tom Clements tossed a fiveyard pass to Pete Demmerle and Randy Harrison raced 40 yards with an interception.

Texas A&M's entire backfield was on the sidelines with injuries at one point so sub fullback Jerry Honore took over and scored twice against Arkansas, once on a 60-yard gallop.

Nebraska's Dave Humm threw two scoring passes against Colorado while freshman Monte Anthony rushed for 157 yards and John O'Leary tallied twice.

Jeff Hite, benched earlier in the season, raced 79 yards with an intercepted pass against Maryland and scored again on a 21-yard dash after he stole a lateral on a kickoff return.

Texas' Marty Akins led the Longhorns past SMU by firing his first touchdown pass of the season and scoring once himself. The perennial champs remained one game behind Texas A&M in the Southwest Conference scramble.

Tommy Kramer scored one touchdown and passed for another as Rice upset Texas Tech for its first triumph.

Texas-El Paso, which failed to win a game last year, notched victory No. 3 of 1974 by shocking heavily favored Arizona State as Bobby McKinley threw a first-period touchdown pass and scored twice himself in the final quarter. The defeat dropped the defending champion Sun Devils into a secondplace tie with idle Arizona in the Western Athletic Conference, one-half game behind 3-01 Brigham Young.

Sherman Smith scored twice, helping Miami of Ohio clinch at least a tie for its second straight Mid-American Conference title. Robin Earl, a 250-pound tight end until a couple of weeks ago, rumbled for 152 yards and one touchdown as Washington continued its jinx over UCLA in Seattle, where the Bruins haven't won since 1958.

Dan Shepherd's 25-yard field with 10 seconds left — his third of the game — lifted Cincinnati past previously unbeaten Temple. North Texas State scored twice in the first period on Ken Washington's 25-yard pass to Vance Jackson and David Deaton's 26-yard interception and held on to beat San Diego State. Richard Baes and Charley Baggett scored secondhalf touchdowns after Wisconsin fumbles as Michigan State downed the Badgers.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): If a financial transaction is up for consideration, and you have subconscious doubts, it would be better to postpone action. There COULD be something to those hunches of yours.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): You may be quite certain in your mind as to exactly how you intend to handle things, but it wouldn't hurt to get another's viewpoint. Some interesting new concepts could result.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Not a day for forcing issues or deliberately bring up controversial subjects. Roll with the punches for the time being.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Strong indications of gain through past efforts. A good period, too, for launching new enterprises. Study all suggestions carefully, however.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Watch finances, but don't become overly anxious about them. Just make up your mind to pursue a conservative and realistic course.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — The Public Broadcasting Service's new national program cooperative, begun this year, has gotten the green light for the 1975-76 season. But a big hurdle remains.

And PBS chief Hartford Gunn says that is to persuade the Corporation for Public Broadcasting and the Ford Foundation to increase, not decrease, the financial support they gave the system for 1974-75.

The cooperative, created amid dwindling foundation support for public TV, aims at stimulating great local financial help for public TV as well as giving stations more direct say in choosing national programs.

Under the system, the stations are asked to pay a fair-share percentage of some national programming they once got free from PBS, helping to "buy" shows offered in a PBS program catalogue.

To get it started this season, CPB, which administers federal funds earmarked for public broadcasting, put up $4.5 million. The Ford Foundation put up $5 million and stations raised $4 million, Gunn said. The $13.5 million total paid for 40 per cent of the cost of this season's national public TV programs, he added.

CPB executive committee, in renewing the program cooperative for another season, said it should be financed at a level of from $19 million to $23 million. Gunn is aiming for a $21 million level.

"Our hope is that the stations would put up $7 million and CPB and the Ford Foundation $7 million each," he said. "It's a reasonable figure and the program choices the stations could make would be considerably greater than they were under this year's funding."

He said that by this he meant that financially pressed stations this year tended to buy low-cost series lasting weeks rather than expensive programs — such as documentaries — of only one or several segments.

What sort of financial commitment has CPB and the Ford Foundation made to the cooperative for next season? "Well, the corporation has said it could put up $3.7 million," Gunn said.

He said the Ford Foundation, which is gradually phasing out its long-time support of public broadcasting, "has not said what it'd put up, but it did indicate earlier it'd match what CPB puts up."

500 People Enjoy Night Of Harmony

By BOB BENSONHAVER
Herald Staff Writer

From every corner of the county they came. Musicians, not yet hitting Billboard's Top 100, touching the hearts of hundreds of Pickaway Counties.

Saturday's second annual Night of Harmony, sponsored by the Benevolent and Protective Order of the Elks Lodge 77, proved once again to be highly successful.

The sale of tickets will benefit cerebral palsy and each of the four county high school music departments.

The event brought Teays Valley, Logan Elm, Westfall and Circleville Music Departments, not in a contest, but, along with the Elks Singers in an evening of enjoyable music.

The emcee, P. J. Ryal, noted that when you get all four county schools together, it's good.

Saturday's program opened with Teays Valley doing four special routines.

Pianist David Warner did a Scott Joplin tune, "The Maple Leaf Rag," while four students did a 1920's skit.

The girls chorus did a beautiful 2-part arrangement of Johnny Crowell's love song, "Walk Hand In Hand" while the boys ensemble, wearing skimmer-type hats and canes, performed Frank Loesser's "Once in Love With Amy".

Joyce's arrangement of Strouzes "Those were the Days" was performed in a skit arrangement by the varsity vocals.

The 44-member choir, under the direction of Miss Darlene Freeman, did an exceptional job of four vocal numbers, including, Bach's "Honor and Glory"; John Denver's "My Sweet Lady"; from the movie, Fiddler on the Roof, Jerry Bock's, "If I Were A Rich Man" and from Godspell, Stephen Schwartz's "Day By Day".

Under the direction of Pauline Swinehart, the Westfall girls ensemble performed a two-part ballad "My Johnny Is Comin' For Me" by Richard Oliver and Lennon and McCartney's "Here, There and Everywhere".

Ed Lojeski's arrangement of "Life Is A Song Worth Singing" and "Like to Love" by Chris Dedrick were sung by the mixed chorus.

The Westfall Lab Band, under the direction of James Kibby, hit the stage once again providing good music as in the past.

The band "experimented" with tunes as "Saturday In The Park" by Lammy; Lennon and McCartney's "Hey Jude"; Miller and Murden's "For Once In My Life" and Lowder's "Arrangement Of The Carpenters, "Now and Then".

Quality could best describe the Circleville High School Choir, under the direction of Candace Rigo.

The choir, getting better each year, performed such tunes as "The Entertainer," by Scott Joplin; "Dance Alleluia" by Arnold Freed; a Frank Metz arrangement of "Delta Dawn" and "Old Irish Blessing" by Denes Agay.

The girls triple trio did another Frank Metz arrangement of "Bogie Woogie Bugle Boy".

Next on the agenda was the Contemporary Sounds of the Circleville Stage Band under the direction of Gary Dean. "I Believe In Music," "Stage Fanfare" and "One For Jim" were among the numbers performed by the selected musicians.

After a short intermission, the audience of 500 was delighted by music from the Logan Elm High School Choir.

Under the direction of David Price, the 45-member group did "O Bone Jesu" by Palestrina; "I Believe" with a quodlibet with the Bach-Ground "Ave Maria"; "I want to Live With God" by Salome Clary; John Denver's "My Sweet Lady" and "Eres Tu-Touch The Wind" by Juan Carlos Calderon and Mike Hawker.

The choir eneded their portion of the program with Ed Lojeski's outstanding arrangement of "An American Trilogy".

Last, but in no means, the least of the program were the Elks Singers. The Barbership Harmony group, under the direction of Terry Anderson, delighted the audience with such tunes as "Edelweiss", "Wiffenpoof", "I Believe", "Today", "Gay Nineties Medley" and "Keep America Singing."

The audience provided a standing ovation to the group on the song "Keep America Singing" while Ralph Arney provided a dissertation on the beginnings of the night of harmony.

An encore of "Shine On Me" and "Wild Irish Rose" ended the evening of music as everyone left the building with a song in their heart.

Judges Ponder New Boyle Trial

MEDIA, Pa. (AP) — Three Delaware county judges will hear arguments Dec. 19 from the lawyer representing convicted murderer W.A. "Tony" Boyle, the former president of the United Mine Workers Union who is seeking a new trial in the 1969 Yablonski slayings.

A jury convicted the 72-year-old Boyle last April of arranging the hire of gunmen to kill UMW rival Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski.

Yablonski, his wife, Margaret, and daughter, Charlotte, were found dead in their beds in Clarksville, Washington County, Pa.

Boyle presently is in the federal prison at Springfield, Mo., where he is serving a three-year term for unlawfully spending union funds during the 1972 presidential election.

Three Youths Arrested For Streaking

Three Circleville juveniles were released to the custody of their parents, after they were arrested for disorderly conduct, 9:05 p.m. Sunday.

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy was on routine patrol on the Circleville-Tarlton-Northern Road, when he saw three boys running nude around a parked vehicle.

The streaking youths put their clothes on and were escorted to the jail where the parents were notified.

Youth Charged With Sale Of Hallucinogen

A 17-year-old Clarks Lake youth was arrested, by Sheriff's Deputy Lawrence Holt, for the illegal sale of an hallucinogen.

Holt and Auxiliary Deputy Ray Ratcliff made a search of the home Oct. 12 with the arrest of the youth made Nov. 1.

The youth and a man formerly arrested by the Sheriff's department, are believed to be responsible for 90 per cent of drug sales in the western part of the county.

Deputy Holt is continuing the investigation with other possible charges pending.

Pickets At Grocery Store Want Probe After Arrests

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The Montgomery County sheriff's office was accused Sunday of violating the constitutional rights of United Farm Workers union pickets by arresting 22 of them outside a Dayton supermarket.

"We are going to demand an investigation of the sheriff's department for the arrests and also that one of the deputies was drunk and pulled a gun," said Eliseo Medina, Ohio UFW director.

"We feel that one of our people could have been shot if we had not been passive and nonviolent," he said.

Deputies arrested about half of a group that was picketing a Fazio's market just northeast of the city limits Saturday night as part of the UFW's boycott of nonunion picked grapes and lettuce.

Those arrested were charged with disorderly conduct, released on $25 bond and scheduled for court appearances today.

Medina said the pickets were complying with deputies' orders to disperse when officers started arresting people at random. He said a Roman Catholic nun who was participating in the demonstration demanded three times to be arrested, but deputies refused.

Sgt. James Howard of the sheriff's office said the pickets were "clapping, chanting and raving" and refused to listen when officers ordered them to leave.

Medina said he planned to meet with church and labor leaders to arrange to "go out and picket the store again."

"We feel that we have a constitutional right to express our views and ask the consumers not to buy grapes and lettuce and neither Fazio's nor the sheriff's department can deprive us that right," he added.

The union has been picketing the grocery chain for about six weeks because it sells grapes and lettuce not picked by UFW workers, Medina said.

The incident came at the end of a five-day union workshop in Dayton attended by union members from Columbus, Toledo, Akron, Cleveland, Cincinnati and Dayton.
